

REACTION TO THE OF

The French girl brought up In the is a far product. Newcomers of displeasure, that they are bolder and tfceir politan contemporaries. The of servants has given them too much the of It for the white race to acquire the demeaning qualities. of on the fear of losing prestige^ the call in a servant even to pick up she lias on
the floor. But the colony also of convent-trained Parisleimes. They to of people in a less strictly population necessitates an of but it is impossible to form permanent Girls m rapid-fire imrriage the a premium on a good of superficial accomplishments^ the of upon — all make for a of a t from which many French by sending them back to school in Firtnee. It is
the problem of too much leisure with no of it profitably. If the expatriated has unadaptabl to life, Ac girl up in Iado~Qiisa, on the other hand, has too to to faults. The distaff side of the haa t tendency to extremes to omf ffo

Hie of the civfl the among the French in the It the struggle and the aati-derictl the Tfe0tigfa the has been the ati& in an form* The still
the
of a the Ac civi are to get of the fa the there m-ere t few and pnytectkm. With the of the of the erf of and oat be

f